INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT CONSULTING

CHAIRMAN'S message

The economic, social and political environment is evolving at a fast pace and often inconsistently.

Market globalization and increasing corporate responsibility expectations necessarily drive business leaders to anticipate growth and mitigate risks.

Whenever necessary, leading corporations embark upon major transformation processes that allow them to anticipate market expectations and plan for the financial and human resources that will support these key moments.

Strategic support is not only available for large corporations: small business managers can also manage their future development with a team that will support you analysing the options, building a strategy and driving change.

After working for 20 years in renowned companies and having acquired broad experience in business management I made a commitment to supporting small businesses.

Over the years SHEMAY has worked with consultants in several countries, each bringing its own perspective and cultural background.

Trust us: we share the passion for your ambitions.
